PROCLAMATION OF THE CORPORAL

The Commissioner of Pensions Makes Speech at the Scotch-Irish Convention-Bis Views.

COLUMBIA, Tenn., May 10.—The opening prayer this morning by Dr. McIntosh was followed by an address by Dr. Kelly, of Nashville. He said among other things that the doctrine that the government was only by consent of the governed through representation was first announced by Scotch-Irish Presbyterians in a formal reply to the long parlia ment of Cromwell, and that the voice of the Scotch-Irish was first to be heard for constitutional liberty on American soil; that they poured into this continent in streams of 12,000 a year during the eighteenth century so that Quaker Pennsylvania cried out, "Save us from these Presbyterians." That examination has convinced him of the fact that to Craighead belonged the honor of taying the foundation of American independence. Some doubt has been raised in regard to the Mecklenburg declaration, but he had seen the manuscript, copy read by Thomas Polk on that memorable occasion, which had been carefully preserved by a grand-niece of Polk and is now extant.

He then pointed out a distinguishing feature of the Wautauga declaration, promulgated by Scotch-Irishmen, and that to which the Mayflower gave birth. The latter commenced with declarations of loyalty to the people. He then gave graphic and interesting sketches of the early settlement of Tennessee. secole. He then gave graphic and interesting sketches of the early settlement of Tennessee, which he said was made by the Scotch-Irish who drove back the Indians themselves, the women molding bullets for their rifles, while the pioneers of the northwest followed the soldiers who drove back the Indians and protected the settlers. He showed a bullet seed need in Fast Tennessee, at Campbell's mold used in East Tennessee, at Campbell's station in 1777. Every prominent officer, he said, who was with Jackson during the Creek and Florida wars and at New Orieans, as Jackson himself, were of Scotch-Irish blood. That the separation of church and state was due, set as and heavy symptomics every server. the separation of church and state was due, not as had been sometimes erroneously supposed to Jefferson, but to the Scotch-Irish Presbsterians. He said that the greatest horror of the Mayflower puritans, for whom he had all due respect, was the Maypole dance, while the Scotch-Irish could forgive dancing but not inhospitality in home. One race was lugubrious in religious observances, the other cheerful. The speaker then paid glowing tributes to the memory of James Polk, Hugh L. White, John Beil and Andrew Jackson, all of whom were of Scotch-Irish extraction, and among those who had done honor to the race in their sides of valor on the southern side during the late war. He mentioned the names of Albert Sidney Johnson, Jos. E. Johnston, Stonewall Jackson, N. B. Forest and Patrick Cleburne, who, he said, were as pure and clean-hearted soldiers as the world ever saw. The speaker said that from the time he was fourteen years of age he had always advocated and espoused, the cause of negro education.

CORPORAL TANNER FOLLOWED.

In the course of his address, Commissioner Tanner said that he was prond of the fact that he could bring from his conrades in the north a sentiment in perfect harmony with the peace and good feeling dominant here today. No matter, he said, how earnestly you may fight a man; no matter how utterly you may condemn the principles for which he contended, when you find that man so terribly in parnest that he offers his life in behalf of the principles for which he commands our respect in spite of ourselves. In speaking of the policy to be pursued by him commands our respect in spite of ourselves. In speaking of the policy to be pursued by him as commissioner in the administration of the pension bureau, he said, in part:

For long years I have had one conscientious conviction in my heart which has grown with years, and which is stronger in my beart loday than ever before, namely, that it is the bounder duty of this great republic of ours to see to it that no man who were the bue and laid it off in honor, shall ever feel the necessity of, or be permitted to prawl

UNDER THE ROOF OF AN ALMSHOUSE iseased veteran and of the widows and orphans of those who have already laid down their lives.

Only a few weeks since, I read the cold, delibers at announcement in the dispatches of the Associated Press, that in the vaults of the treasury, at Washington, the brick walls had absolutely been broken down by the press of silver hoarded therein. Last week in the columns of the New York Press, I tere another cold announcement which caused the blood to both in my veins—that a man of good character, who had trod many bettefields at the head of a thou-and men, that he led to the front as rolonel commanding; who had conducted himself in all the walks of life with honor; who had simply been unfortunate in business affairs, was found by an officer of one of the charitable institution of New York city, with his old wife eking out a miscrable existence in an attic room, trying to subsist on twenty cents per day.

REVIEWING THE PENSION LIST.

We hear a great deal today about the pension list of the United States. It is a great list, I am here to assert it is a roil of honor. Amony the scores of Washington, the brick walls had absolutely been to assert it is a roll of honor. Among the scores of thousands who are upon that roll of honor, there thousands who are upon that roll of honor, there are 33,874, not one of whom draws from the treasury of the United States more than $576 per month; 387 of them draw $575 per month; 1,893 of them draw $890 per month; 3 of them draw $256 per month; 7 of them draw $256 per month; 2 of them draw $250 per month; 3 of them draw $212.30 per month; 3 of them draw $200 per month; 2 of them draw $100 per month.

them draw $100 per month; 2 of them draw $187 per month; 2 of them draw $100 per month.

of them draw $100 per month, that in this great assemble them draw $100 per month.

there rests some power, and as that power is mine I broadly say that I propose just as soon as possible to call in every one os the certificates of pension, the figures of which I have named, and reissue the figures of which I have named, and reissue them on the basis of truth, that no man ought to be down on the pension roll of the United States for less than the miscrable pittance of one dollar per week. This and some other things too numerous to go into details about 1 propose to do, if my life be spared and my official existence be not cut short. No good citizen of the United States will dispute for an instant but that it is wise political economy to care tenderly for the men who have borne the heat and the burden of the day. From the lips of my predecessor in the official position which I hold, I have the statement that from statistics gathered by him there is no doubt but that at least ten thousand honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the union army and navy lay down their heads this night.

ON PALLETS OF STAAW,

and eat the bread of charity in alms houses of the United states. It is a shame to us, north and south, and God willing, we will right it. I am clearly of and God willing, we will right it. I am clearly of the opinion that I voice the dominant scatiment of this country when I unbesitatingly declare that wise policy demands that in treating with those wise policy demands that in treating with those who have just claims before this country. I should cease to hunt for merely technical reasons with with which to defeat these claims, and to devote o little of our time at least, to helping those claimants who in the past, did not hesitate to help the country in its horr of dire peril. Within the limitations of law, with due regard to my official cath. I have broadly asserted that everything that I can do to assist the needy and suffering velerans shall be done. In holding to this course, I am confident that I shall have the approbation of every manly man in all this country, and particularly of those who were manly foce of 1861 to 1865."

THE CONFEDERATE VETERAN.

make such appropriations as will provide for them in their declining years; and here and now I am so presumptions as to declare that every comrade who mere the union blue, and who since the war has east his lot among you; whose mutual possessions are with yeu, will cheerfully submit to their pro rata abare of all taxation which may be necessary in these states to see that the wolf of want and the grawing of hunger shall be kept from the homes of men, who, on hundreds of bautefields, were heroes of war to the last extremity. Common decency demands this action on the part of the legislatures of the states which passed the ordinance of secession, and I freely declare that in all the great northland the votee of no decent man or woman will be raises in protest at such action.

When Tanner said it was a burning shame that the southern states had not provided by law for the comfort of their private soldiers, who had made the name which these officers had achieved, Dr. Kelly stated that Tennessee had recently passed such a law, at which Tanner expressed his gratification. At the close of his speech a bouquet was presented him of softhern roses from a southern lady. His speech was frequently applauded, although in some respects not in accord with the sentiments of the audience, and was replete with sound sense, commingled with considerable humor. When Tanner said it was a burning shame

NORTH CAROLINA BRAVERY.

Governor Scales Defends North Carolina's RALEIGH, N. C., May 10.-[Special.]-Confederate Memorial Day was very effectively observed here. The capitol and all the public buildings were closed. Many national and state flags were displayed. There was a great audience at Metropolitan hall, at which Gov-ernor Fowle and all the state officers were present. After prayer by Chaplain Thomas E. Skinner, Chief Marshal Alex. B. Stronach introduced the orator of the day, ex-Governor Alfred Moore Scales, of Greensboro, whose subject was "The Life and War Services of General James Johnston Pettigrew." The address occupied over an hour in delivery, and was of great value, as it was mainly a statement of the heroic charge of the Petti-grew brigade at Gettysburg. He said he would devote himself to its work on the third day. It has been alleged by what Governor Scales plainly termed untruthful war correspondent of the Richmond papers that Pickett's Virginians did all the work that day, and that Pettigrew's men fell back. He proved by the testimony of General Robert E. Lee, Generals Longstreet and Tremble and scores of others that the North Carolina troops went as far as any troops on that fateful 3d of July. The loss of Pettigrew's brigade that day was fifty per cent., and that of Pickett's twenty-eight per cent., while one of Pettigrew's regiments, the Twenty-sixth North Carolina, lost on that day 556 men killed, this being the greatest regimental loss during the entire war on either side. Governor Scales said that the North Carolinans did not fall back from the federal wayks until it was said that the North Carolinans did not fall back from the federal works until it was seen that Pickett had fallen back. He did not make any aspersions on Virginia or Pickett, but culogized both, and said that by the best testimony in the world it was proved that on the third day North Carolinians did not falter and fall back, but went as far and stayed as long as any troops in that history.

and stayed as long as any troops in that history.
Colonel Bachilder, the best informed man living in regard to Gettysburg, says the North Carolinians went into the enemy's works, and that there was a general retreat, after it was found impossible to stand the storm of fire Governor Scales called upon North Carolina to erect a monument at Gettysburg to the memerect a monument at Gettysburg to the memory of Pickett and his heroic brigade.

The state executive committee of the Confederate Veterans' association held a special meeting here today, Julian S. Carr presiding, for the purpose of considering matters relative to organization in the entire state, to secure means for the erection of a soldiers' home. It was decided to issue a call for meetings in each courthouse in the state for the 4th of July, and to effect at these a complete county organization, and have a complete county organization, and have rolls of soldiers sent here. Two radies will be chosen to represent each township in the work of securing funds for the soldiers home. There was much enthusiasm at the plans for the home, and the committee is now certain that it will be established. Earnest and harmonious work will be done by the committee, by the veterans and the general public.

Execution of Three Ball Knobbers at Ozark Mo-The Rope Stretches and the Sheriff Drops Them a Second Time.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 10.—A special from Ozark, Mo., to the Post Dispatch, says the carpenters gave the scaffold its finishing ouches last evening. William Walker was baptized at 6 p. m. by immersion in a bath basin carried into the jail. The scene was very effecting. John Matthews made a long prayer, which could be distinctly heard in the street. The prisoners ate their supper with as much relish as usual and appeared very quiet except Matthews, who is taking his fate very hard He passed a restless night

TRAYING AT SHORT INTERVALS, asking the Lord to give him strength to go through the terrible ordeal, claiming that he was a martyr. He did not sleep over two hours during the night.

The two Walkers retired about 11 o'clock, went to sleep and did not wake up until after 4 o'clock. They stated that they rested well. They were up early and ate their breakfast at the usual hour.

The jail yard was full of guards, armed with Winchesters, shot guns and revolvers, and were in charge of Captain G. W. Taylor, who was foreman of the grand jury which indicted the bald knobbers

MATTHEWS'S WIFE AND MOTHER came in last evening and several other of his relatives are here. Divine services were pened in the jail at 7:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. Thomas Hanks, D. E. Grayston and T. B. Horne, assisted by a few Christian ladies. Matthews took part in the exercises. and delivered an earnest prayer in a loud voice. William Walker also led in prayer

At 8:53 o'clock the sheriff entered the iail and read the death warrant to the doomed men, after which Thomas Delaney, one of their attorneys, was admitted to have an in-terview and bid them farewell.

A TALK WITH JOHN MATTHEWS. John Matthews came to a window and had a conversation with the Post-Dispatch corres-ondent. He said : "I have to die, but thank God I can say I am innocent, and have told the truth all along about this matter. I have nothing to regret. I went out through the hole, not because I was guilty, but to escape a shameful death. But it is the will of God that I should die, and I ought to be proud of it. I was a soldier in the federal army and am proud of my record. I am willing for the people who have known me all my life to say what kind of a man I

THEIR LAST TOILET. At 9:10 a. m. the prisoners commenced dressing themselves for the scaffold. They were dressed with white shirts, linen collars, black cravats, low slippers and black coat, vest and trousers. The jury and reporters were dmitted to the inside at 9:20 o'clock.

Just before leaving his cell, John Matthews proclaimed his innocence in a loud voice. The sheriff helped Matthews up the steps. Young Walker followed with a firm step, his father following close behind, as firm as ever. At the trap a short prayer was delivered by Rev. Mr. Horne, after which all joined in singing. Rev. Mr. Horne rendered a selection from the book of Job; Rev. Thomas Hanks delivered a beautiful prayer. The noose was adjusted at 9:40. John Matthews said he had nothing to say. He was there, but took no part in the crime. Matthews called on all who were willing to HELP HIS LITTLE ONES to hold up their hands. Nearly every one in his sight held up their hands. The black caps were adjusted at 9:51.

At 9:53 the drop fell. John Matthews fell praying. The stretch of the rope let all fall to the ground. The rope broke, and William Walker fell loose and LAY STRUGGLING AND GROANING.

He talked for three minutes, when he was taken up by the sheriff and deputies on the scaffold. Dave Walker was drawn up and died in about fifteen minutes. Matthews lived about thirteen minutes, and died with his feet on scene was horrible in the extreme. Matthews and Dave Walker were cut down at 10:10. The trap was again adjusted, and William Walker lifted helpless and groaning and struggling and almost insensible and the rope again adjusted and the trap again sprung. This time the descent came to a sudden stop with his feet full thirty inches from the ground and he died without a struggle. All three of the murderers were firmly of the opinion up to within 48 hours of the execution, that they would never be called upon to pay the extreme penalty of life for Matthews and Dave Walker were cut down at lively fight occurred here today between two representatives of the Collier Publishing company. Milton Young is a canvasser for subscription. E. B. Blease delivers the books to subscribers. Blease was impressed with the subscriptons. Blease was impressed with the idea that Young was trying too boss him, and he declined to recognize his authority. The relations have been strathed for several days past. Today Young drove up in a buggy before the Adkins house, where Blease was stopping, and called to him to deliver certain books this afternoon. Blease said he would deliver them tomorrow. Words ensued, and Young threatened to write to headquarters and have Blease discharged, whereupon the latter rushed out of the house horsewhip in hand, and seizing Young's bridal rein, ordered him to get out of the buggy. Young complied in a hurry, but instead of rushing upon his assailant ran in the opposite direction across the street into Heggie's livery stable and attempted to run through the stables to the street beyond. Blease followed, lashing him with the whip. At the rear of the stables the gates were closed, and Young was penned in. By this time Blease had was penned in. By this time Blease had broken his whip, and he reversed it, clubbing Young several times with the butt. Young broke past him and ran out fof the front of the stable again making his escape. The Reports of the Home and Poreign Sec retaries-Fraternal Messengers From England-The Ladies' Auxiliary.

Мемриз, Tenn., May 10.- [Special.]--The

outhern Baptist convention met with the First Baptist church of this city at 10 a. m. today. It is, perhaps, the largest representa-tion ever seen in the convention, more than 800 delegates. The leading men, ministerial and lay, of the denomination are here. Hon. L. B. Elly, of Missouri, presided as temporary president. The following names were put in nomination for permanent president: Dr. J. A. Broadus, of Kentucky; Governor J. P. Eagle, of Arkansas; Hon. H. K. Ellison, of Virginia; Hon. L. B. Elly, of Missouri; Colonel Hoyt, of South Carolina; Judge Haralson, of Alabama. and Dr. Coleman, of Ken-tucky. All declined except Messrs. Hoyt, Haralson and Coleman, and Judge Haralson was duly elected. Lansing Burrows, D. D., and O. F. Gregory, D. D., were elected secretaries. K. K. Ellison, Governor J. P. Eagle, James Pollard and F. H. Kerfert were elected vice was spent in disposing of the question of order in the procedure touching the organization. Rev. H. A. Tupper, D. D., corresponding ecretary of foreign board, submitted the fortyfourth annual report of the board. The report shows a marked increase both with respect to contributions and mission work done.

The convention has missions established in Chins, Africa, Italy, Mexico and Brazil.

Dr. I. T. Tichnor, corresponding secretary of the home mission board, made his report. This report shows a large increase in collections and mission labors. Each of these reports was referred to appropriate committees. That portion of the home mission board report which refers to Sunday school publications was referred to a committee composed of one from each state, with instructions to report on the same to the convention.

AN INTERESTING FEATURE ception by the convention of Rev. Dr. Barker. president of Manchester college, and Mr. Shaw, both of England, as fraternal messengers from the regular Baptists of that country. The hour of eleven o'clock a. m., has been set apart to receive them. The addresses will be made by Dr. Hatcher, of Virginia, and Broadus, of Kentucky. This is the first time in the history of the denominations that like messengers have been sent and received. Doubtless the convention will reciprocate by appointing messengers to the English anniversary

THE MOST IMPORTANT AUXILIARY work connected with the convention is the Woman's Mission society. It will hold its session in the Presbyterian church tomorrow. Baptist women of the south. Georgia leads in contribution to this work as shown by the report made to the secretary, the amount being more than $14,000. Atlanta is represented by a full delegation. In fact the rank and file of the denomination are represented throughout the south. The hotels are all full, and delegates and visitors still arriving. It looks as if we were threatened with an inundation.

THE RAILROAD KINGS.

High Tributes to President Williamson and the New York Capitalits.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 10.—[Special.]— Messrs Alfred Sully, R. K. Dow and Simon Borg, of New York, members of the executive board of the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railway, President J. D. Williamson, General manager J. R. Shalor, Directors, Hon. J. C. Clements, Dr. J. B. S. Holmes, David Bukofzer, J. W. Caunder and several David Bukotzer, J. W. Caunder and several other gentlemen started from Rome yesterday at noon to continue this tour of inspection. The progress of the party was impeded by reason of the crowds which had gathered at every station. The train stopped and the occupants on board the special would alight and winds with the nearly sequenced of the best mingle with the people composed of the best citizens in each place. The hearty welcome extended all along the line to the distingu shed extended all along the line to the distingu shed visitors, and no less so to President Williamson, was more in the nature of an ovation in grateful recognition of an accomplished herculean task, and made a profound impression on the minds of the New York gentlemen. The party arrived here at 8 p. m., and were met by a committee of chamber of commerce, then in session, and invited to accompany them to the meeting, which invitation was promptly responded to and the visit very much enjoyed.

Today a delegation of leading citizens took over their picturesque city, carrying them, by the courtesy of the Belt railroad and Lookout the courtesy of the Belt railroad and Lookout Mountain railroad, on top of their matchless mountain, and through the suburbs of this pushing city, winding up with a banquet at the Hotel Stanton. In response to calls at both the meetings of the chamber of commerce and at the banquet, Messrs. Barg. Dow and Sully expressed themselves surprising well pleased with an enterprise into which they had put their money and influence, but which, until three days ago, they never had seen. Mr. Sully, in particular, depicted with much warmth the satisfactory impressions received, and dwelt at some length on the possibilities of Chattanooga and the south's great future. Especially gratifying to the assembled guests Especially gratifying to the assembled guests Especially gratifying to the assembled guests around the festive board, was Mr. Sully's graceful tribute to President Williamson, to whose energy and perseverance the building of the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus was due, expressing himself entirely satisfied with the management and pledged the speedy completion of the road to Columbus and an extension to Atlanta and Savannah.

AGAINST THE GEORGIA RAILROAD. The Compartment Car Case Before the Interstate Commission,

WASHINGTON, May 10. -On the 10th of April last the interstate commerce commission heard the complaint of William H. Heard, colored, vs. the Georgia railroad company. The charges involved in the complaint were that in traveling over the defendant's road. from Augusta to Atlanta, petitioner was compelled to accept second-class accommodations, being obliged to occupy a compartment car, although he had purchased a ticket which guaranteed him first-class accommodations. The commission, in an opinion by Mr. Bragg, rendered today, holds as follows:

1. It is the lawful duty that carriers like the defendant owes to the traveling public, in the defendant owes to the traveling public, in carrying out its rule of furnishing separate cars to white and colored passengers, on its line engaged in interstate travel to make them equal in comforts, accommodation and equipment without any discrimination.

TRADE TOPICS.

of Business for the Past Week-New York, May 10.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s

New York, May 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for the week says:

Post-centennial business here has abundarly saysfied some houses, but greatly disappoint of many others. It is the most prominent characteristic of the present situation throughout the country that the usual consistency of commercial action is lacking. The transactions and results for some branches of business are highly satisfactory, and for others the reverse. This is not an unusual symptom of the period of commercial and industrial readjustment, when everything has to be adapted to the new scaled of prices and profits and to new conditions, but it has hardly ever been more prominent than it is now. Many iron works are closing for example, is now. Many iron works are closing for example, but many are doing remarkably well. Many wooten mills are idle, but others are at work full time with fair profits. The approaching transition from one crop year to another, recent change of alministra-tion, changes in the interstate law and the rapid development of manufactures at the south, are pro-ducing effects which cannot yet be fully measured. IRON PRODUCTION HAS BEGUN TO DECLINE. the output weekly of anthracite and bituminous, May 1st, being only 123,774 tons, a decrease of 4,3.2 tons weekly since April 1st. But the aunouncement by the Thomas Iron company that it will supply No. 1 foundry at $16.50 at tide and at Grey at $15 or No. I foundry at $16.59 at tide and at Grey at $15 or lower, if necessary to meet southern competition, as expected to accelerate a reduction of the output. The largest Virginia concern has resuced its price $1.50 in return, and Alabama from has previously been seiling here at $16. A number of furnaces are about to blow put, though the works making Bessemer from and ore mill iron for their own use are not affected. Frices are lower at Pittsburg also, but there is a better feeling in finished bar from there and at Philadelphia, and the demand for plate, pipe, sheet and structural iron continues satisfactory.

goes lower, while waiting for adequate new supplies, and the average of 10-4 qualities May 1st was 2.45 cents against 2.45 cents April 1st. The future depends upon the state of the goods market, which is not now encouraging. The demand for weelens is meagre. Dealings in dress goods are light, and while waiting for the treasury decision regarding worsteds, manufacturing and buying are retarded.

COTTON MANUFACTURE IS ACTIVE

and healthy. Business after the centennial holidays has been at firm prices, with rospects of a speedy advance in heavy sheeting, while ginghams are also strong. At Philadelphia the clothing trade is considered poor, and collections "about as bal as they ever have been."

Trade in drugs and chemicals has become quite active, with collections excellent, but dyestuffs are duil.

The speculative movement in breadstuffs has developed again, apparently based on the theory that, although the coming crop may be very large, there will be enough actual scarcity in July, clore now wheat comes forward freely, to enable traders to unload.

Oil has declined 6½ cents, and cotton a slxtoenth with sales of 678,000 bales here for the week. Receipts are just now falling below last year's, white exports are fully maintained; but southern crops are unusually favorable. The grocery trade has been active, with collections fair, though in sugar the demand is again confined to actual needs. In spite of some speculative advances, the general average of prices for commodities is a little lower than it was May 2d, and the fall since January ist has been nearly 6½ per cent, and rains at the west have given wheat speculation a heavy setback.

The STOCK MARKET has imitated that king who "marched up the hill and marched down again," and it ends at exactly the average of a week ago, the defant in the 8t, Louis and Arkansas being the more prominent cause for the recent weakness. But the large expert of gold which began a week ago, and the absorption of four millions by the treasury since May 30, also have some effect.

Exports of merchandise have dropped below has year's again, and while reports from interior markets are generally unchancel, representing money as abundant and in only moderate demand, a sharper demand at Cleveland causes a slight stringency. The change appears in reports as to business activity at other points, excepting that the outlook in the northwest is readed much more confidently since the recent rains. Everywhere cropprospects are encouraging, with the season more advanced than usual, and the acreage in wheat considerably increased. Oil has declined 6% cents, and cotton a sixteenth

The area early planted, where subsequent weather conditions have been favorable, was being cultivated a second time in the more southern beit, breadths less advanced were being chopped out at the date of the report. At the same time the replanting of poor stands was in progress. In the more northern localities planting was less advanced.

The recent temperature has been too low for the

The general average of winter barley is 96.9; of spring pasture, 16.6; of mowing land, 96.5. Winter wheat of Ohio valley, while fully maintaining its April position has had a seant supply of moisture and fears of a future decline of the condition are entertained in case of a continued deficiency of rainfall. On the Atlantic slope recent heavy rains have obviated the effects of the previous deficiency. The plant is generally green and flourishing, but has not tillered well in localities, inclining to dryness. A high condition is reported in the south, though rust has appeared upon weat blades in some fields. The percentages of condition of states of principal production are: Ohio, 90; Michigan, 92; Indiana, 95; Elinois, 95; Missouri, 98; Kansas, 98; Texas, 88. The percentage of ploughing in, preparing seed bed and planting spring crops, not inclusive of after cultivation, which had already been done, is $3.6 per cent; leaving one-sixth to be done in May and June, mainly in northern latitudes. Last year the percentage was 74.6. The average of series of recent years has been about 77. This season is, therefore, unusually early. In some cases, correspondents speak of delays from heavy rains, from the labor of replanting and other causes, pre-iventing still further advancement.

The Broad River Tragedy Before the Jury-An Unwilling Witness - The Judge's

WASHINGTON, Ga., May 10 .- [Special.]-Buperior court is still in session. On yester-day the court was engaged in the trial of a murder case. A negro named Seymour Valen-tive killed another called Alex Noble, April 19th, 1889, at Danburg, in this county. There was some sort of meeting of negroes. Solicitor Howard was the prosecutor, and Milton Reese, of the firm of Reese & Reese, defended him. The counsel for prisoner claimed that the killing was done in self-defense. The jury went but about sunset and just after supper rendered a verdict of voluntary manslaughter. This morning, May 10th, Judge Lumpkin sentenced Noble. He said he was glad that the jury had given the beneat of doubt to the prisoner, but it was an apgravated case, and he sentenced Noble to twelve years in the penitentiary.

THE BROAD RIVER CASES. This morning the Broad river cases came up.

The grand jury at the last court had made an Indictment against William Wright and Gaines L. Wansley for whipping Huldah Coleman. Wansley had noile prosequied the indict-ment against him, but Wright's case came up for trial this morning. Wansley was sum-moned as a witness. He had, it seems, promlsed Wright to give no evidence against him. When he was asked, "Did you see William Wright inflict blows on Huldah Coleman on December 28, 1889?" Wansley replied that he would decline to say. The solicitor and judge insisted on a reply, and the judge said that he would send Wansley to jail to stay until De-tember if he refused. His counsel, Frank Colly, made a little argument to show that he was entitled to silence. But the judge INSISTED ON A REPLY and said in substance: "I have the highest respect for the counsel, but I insist on a reply. If the president of the United on a reply. If the president of the United States were testifying I should insist on a reply, and send him to jail if I did not get it."

There was then a consultation between Wansley, Wright and their counsel. The judge said he allowed it though he did not recognize the right of witnesses to have counsel. The result was Wright withdrew his plea of not guilty substituting that of guilty, and the charge of contempt of court was withdrawn from Wansley. The judge then desired to hear from both parties on the merits of the rese and

Washington has been crowded with people, during court week awaiting the trial of this case. The judge's conduct is approved in Washington. It is too early to know what the county says. The refusal of Wansley to testi-fy, which was several times repeated, after several orders from court, caused a great sen-tation in the courthouse.

Nevertheless, Lane pleaded to be taken to a place of greater safety. His counsel objected, and urged that he remain here in Quitman. The preponderance of opinion, however, was in favor of his removal, and preparation was made for it. The sheriff told Lane that the favor of his removal, and preparation was made for it. The sheriff told Lane that the circumstances were so peculiar that he, as an officer of the law, had decided to do a thing that he had never done before, and that was not to handcuff him, and to give him a pistol with which to defend himself, should the supreme moment come. The condition upon which this was to be done was that Lane should give his solemn word as a gentleman not to buse the privilege by shooting him, McNeil, and trying to escape. J. M. Thrasher voluntarily went along, and somewhat ahead, to see that the way was clear. About six miles from town, on the road to 'Thomasville, Arrington and Williams, a brother-in-law, came upon Thrasher and demanded of him the whereabouts of Lane. Thrasher said that he had left the party at Dixie. About that time the Lane party came into view. Arrington and Williams rode up, Williams saying "Shoot! shoot! Shoot!" Arrington, about thirty feet away, just above the hip. Lane returned one shot with a pistol, fell to the ground, and was, while prostrate, shot a second time by Arrington. Arrington helped the sheriff to put a light weed knot under the dead man's head, and retired. Upon examination of the person of Lane five buckshot holes, so situated with reference to each other that the open hand would cover them, were found. The second shot made in his head a hole into which an egg might have been slipped. Upon cross an egg might have been slipped. Upon cross examination McNeil said that on Sunday night, at the home of Lane's mother, Lane told Arrington that he loved Miss Arrington, desired to marry her, had heard unsavory reports as to her chasity, wanted to test her, had gone too far, had done wrong, would then and there become her husband. He had no au-thority except his own as sheriff for the re-moval of Lane. Early Monday morning Ar-rington came to McNeil, and said: "Get an-other warrant. He has raped my daughter, but she denies it." After the testimony of J. M. Thrasher, the

After the testimony of J. M. Thrasher, the state closed, except in rebuttal. At this junction counsel for the defenselasked leave to returned to consultation.

Many supposed that the defense would have Arrington to make his statement and not introduce any witness. After absence from the courtroom of half hour the defendant's counsel returned and their solemn mein disclosed in advance the decision that they had reached. They announced that they would introduce evedence The opening statement was made by Colonel W. B. Bennett, and then M. J. Young was sworn and put upon the stand.

Young was sworn and put upon the stand.
"I am a brother-in-law of K. H. Williams.
On or about July fifteenth last I was at the house of said Williams. Sunday aight heard a lady's scream and went to Mrs. E. J. Lane's, whence it came. I found there a number of persons, among them Arrington, Lane, J. T. Sinmons, K. H. Williams. Lane took me aside to talk with me. I asked him why he did this. He replied

'TO TRY HER VIRTUE. My passions got the upper haud of me. I did wrong.' I was in Quitman next day. There

H. T. Williams for the defense swore that H. T. Williams for the defense swore that he is a brother-in-law of Arrington's; that he and Arrington thought that the sheriff was trying to take Lane, the prisoner, to Florida, and that they wanted to prevent it; that they evertook the sheriff and prisoner five or six miles from town, south of Quitman. Lane standing behind McNeil, first shot at Arrington twice with a pistol. All parties were dismounted at the time of the shooting. Arrington said: "McNeil, get away, or I will shoot you with one barrel and Lane with one. I can't afford one barrel and Lane with one. Fean't afford to be shot down by that villain." McNeil ran towards the creek. I deny telling Arrington to shoot Lane. T. J. Powers was next sworn, but the prosecution objected to the introduction of his testicution objected to the introduction of his testi-mony, and pending the discussion of the ques-tion, the judge ordered the jury from the room. The relevency of the testi-mony was ably argued by both sides. The hour of adjournment having arrived. udge Hansell announced that he would rea der his decision tomorrow morning at half-pas

MEMORIAL DAY IN JONESBORO.

The Oration Delivered by Mr. Albert Howell. Jr., of Atlanta.

JONESBORO, Ga., May 10.-[Special.]-At the memorial exercises held here, Mr. Albert Howell, Jr., of Atlanta, the orator, made one of the most polished and eloquent speeches ever made in Clayton county. A large crowd was present to hear the young orator, and all are enthusiastic over his speech. By his social and congenial manner, coupled with his eloquence, he captured our people.

The Alcova Fishermen.

Moneos, Ga., May 10.—[Special.]—A party of young men from town have just returned from a fishing trip on Alcova fiyer, bringing in a sixteen pound blue cat, which is the largest fish ever caught out of the river in this county. Fishing is now the order of the day.

The Son of the Old Democratic War Horse Elected.

Macon, Ga., May 10.—[Special.]—Captain J. L. Hardeman, son of Hon. Thomas Hardeman, was today nominated, by primary vote, over ex-Alderman Jeff Ware, for the legislature, to fill the vacancy from Bibb caused by the death of the Hon. S. C. Chambliss.

The election passed off quietly. There was by the death of the Hon. S. C. Chambliss.

The election passed off quietly. There was no excitement or fuss.

The only issue in the race was that of annexation, and neither candidate sprung that, but is was sprung by their friends. It was given out that Mr. Ware favored the extension of the city limits and that Captain Hardeman opposed it, and this was made an issue to some extent. The specesful candidate made quite a replation as solicitor-general of the Macon circuit, and won for himself much fame as leading prosecuting attorney in the Woolfolk case. Captain Hardeman is now a member of the law firm of Haademan, Davis & Nottingham. He is captain of the Floyd Rifles, a splendid Macon company. He is an alumnus of the

He is captain of the Floyd Rifles, a splendid Macon company. He is an alumnus of the State University. It is predicted that Captain Hardeman will make fine reputation in the halis of legislation.

All the precincts are not yet reported. When all the returns are in Hardeman's majority in the county will be about one thousand. The following precincts have been heard from: Courthouse—Hardeman 842, Ware 171; No. Four—Hardeman 95, Ware 100; East Macon—Hardeman 82, Ware 26; Godfrey—Hardeman 44, Ware 8. Hardeman's majority so far is 758.

NO CHANGES JUST NOW,

But the Covington and Macon is Negotiating for Through Connections.

Macon, Ga., May 10.—[Special.]—It has been generally reported that certain changes would be made in positions on the Covington and Macon road after the election of the new board of director and officers, but, the information is today given out from headquarters, that there will be no changes for the present. There is an impression, however, tha ertain changes will be made at a near day.

Negotiations are now pending that will give the Covington and Macon road through connections from Macon to the north via Athens, which is the shortest and best route from Macon to New York. st is understood that the board of directors elected on Wednesday have discussed the proposed building of the Covington and Macon exom Machem and Monticello on the Covreason from angenem and Montreello on the Cov-ington and Macon to Griffin. Under certain condi-tions this extension will be built. Nothing was said or done about the much talked of Macon and Dublin.

road. This enterprise still has an attack of innocous desnetude, and its projectors still "find it in the soup." The Covington and Macon is not apt to be the spoon to take it out of the soup. Captain Alexander Brown, the wealthy banker of Baltimore, who backs E. C. Machien in the Covington and Macon enterprise, left last evening for Baltimore, having visited Macon simply to attend the stockholders meeting. His investments in this road are mammoth. He has great fath in the future of the road and believes that the new management will make it a fine paying investment. He also has great love for Macon, and wants the road and the city to prosper.

OOK TO THE CHILDREN

Nothing is so necessary to the health of the child as keeping its blood pure. Nature should be assisted in this by using a harmless vegetable remedy like Swift's Specific.

My little niece had white swelling to such an extent that she was confined to the bed for a long time.

More than twenty pieces of bone came out of her leg, and the doctors said amputation was the only remedy to save her life. I refused the operation and put her on S. S. S., and she is now up and active and Trivate Bath-Room of Prominent Women New York Letter to Kansas City Journal.

The society woman depends greatly on luxuitious bathing to renew her strength. The Turkish bath must be taken outside the home but the bathrooms in some of the wealthy houses give evidence of their costliness and beauty of the part they play in the daily economy. Mrs. Henry Clew's bathroom is a grotto of cnyx walls, floor, ceiling, basintub, all being of the sculptured stone. Distilled and perfect and waters flow at a touch; it is like a cool save where Undines sport, and no Monte Cristo could project a thing more fanciful and costly. That of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt is very ceautiful. The walls are of mirrors, over which run painted vines of morning glory and cassion flowers, forming an arbor suggestive of the bower where Venus bathed, and the reflections was suggestive of the bower where Venus bathed, and the reflections are considered to the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections are considered to the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover where Venus bathed, and the reflections of the cover of on flowers, forming an arbor suggestive of lower where Venus bathed, and the reflection doubtless furnish Titanesque hints of at-Tamlin vs. Parrott. Case, from city court of Cartersville. Actions. Damages. Amendment. Charge of court. Verdict. Practice. Evidence. Contracts. Torts. Fences. Before Judge Neel.

Bleckley, C. J.—1. The declaration in an action brought under §1445 of the code for triple damages by reason of killing cattle in an enclosure not protected by a lawful fence, is not amendable by adding a count praying exemplary damages' independently of that section, nor is a charge to the jury correct that recognizes their power to find on such an amendment, nor is a verdict literally correct, which refers to the amendment as its basis; yet the verdict, being for much less than it should have been under the original declaration and the proof applicable thereto, will not be set aside for these errors and irregularities.

2. The record of the defendant's acquittal on an indictment for killing the cattle as constituting the offense of malicious mischief, though the plaintiff was the prosecutor, is not admissible in the civil action.

The principle that the deendant may reduce the recovery for an injury esulting from his negligence by showing that the plaintiff did not exercise ordinary care to diminish or avoid the damage, does not apply where the act complained of is not a mere act of negligence, but a positive, continuous, tor-tious act, committed by the defendant in car-rying dirt and ore from a mine and washing it in a stream flowing through the land of both parties, and thereby producing continued adulteration of the plaintiff's water. The Hot Water Treatment Highly Recommended. From the Boston Herald. From the Boston Herald.

A "constant reader of the Herald" writes that he is in a fog as to the effects of hot water in the treatment of dyspepsia. He has seen it advocated in these columns, and condemned by an esteemed contemporary, who maintains that hot water brings on the disease for which it was recommended. He now writes to know which statement is correct.
Het water hot the or coffee in fact, but feed now writes to know which statement is correct. Hot water, hot tea or coffee, in fact, hot food, whether liquid or solid, if used persistently, will in time irritate the stomach and so impair its power to digest. Practically, it will bring on dyspepsia. Now as to the efficacy of hot water in the treatment of that disease. As a remedy it doubtless appears of "the hair of the dog" sort. It must be remembered that there is a decided difference between a healthy stomach and one in disease. In health nothing ought to be habitually put into that organ which is much more than "blood warm." But in disease the condition of things is very different. What is known as dyspepsia springs from variable conditions; dyspepsia springs from variable conditions; too many, in fact, to discuss here. But in nearly all of them the stomach is less active than it ought to be, or it works to a disadvan-tage, and needs a spur or corrective. Hot wa-ter acts in several ways. When taken into the stomach it not only stimulates it and quickens stomach it not only simulates it and quickens its action, but it tends—as do all hot applicas tions—to allay irritation. Besides that, it act-mechanically, and washes out that organ, hurrying its centents down into the intestine, when without it the same would be retained longer than there is any need of. Let a person who, four or five hours a person who, four or five hours after a hearty meal, still feels uncomfortable, sip a cup of very hot water, and it will bring him great relief, stimulating the stomach and washing out of it much of its contents which would have been sent on into the intestines had not that organ been fatigued by overwork. Now, in what passes under the head of dyspep-sia there is ofted a catarrhal trouble of the stander is ofted a catalrina trouble of the stomach, and the same sort of affection, also, frequently exists in the nestines. The lining is more or less irritated, and, in consequence of it, not only is the secretion of fucus greater than in health, but the same is changed in character, is thicker, more adhesive, etc. While the stomach is is empty, this mucus pours out of its walls and glues them over, as it were. With such a doposit upon them, let food be taken into it and soon the same is coated with mucus and so rendered less susceptible to the digestive fluids. Not only that, but the mucus in question, while on the walls, keeps back to a certain extent the gastric juice, and prevents its free entrance into the stomach. For such a condition of things as this hot water is the simplest, most grateful and effective remedy known. But by hot water is not, by any means, meant stomach, and the same sort of affection, also. most grateful and enective remay known. But by hot water is not, by any means, meant water "scalding hot." Water too hot may injure the lining of the stomach and cause other ill effects. Hot water to be taken internally as a medicine should be at a temperature of from 110 to 120 degrees, or about as hot as the coffee one indulges in after dinner. It should be taken before meals—from one-half should be taken before meals-from one-hall physician, as in some instances where it would physician, as in some instances where it would seem advisable to take it, it might be contra-indicated. To settle this question regarding the value of hot water, and the possible dangers of using it, the following testi-meny of a physician is offered: "We often hear it said that the free and prolonged use of hot water tends to in-jure the system. Some say that it is weaken. prolonged use of not water tends to injure the system. Some say that it is weakening, that it weakens the nerves of the stomach, that it causes anemia of the stomach, that it interferes with digestion, that it tends to produce a flushed face and cerebral hyperæmia, that it debilitates the alimentary tract, and that it causes a host more of direful cyils. As a rule, all these objections are theoretical, and come from those who have never used it intelligently and systematically, and hence are ig-norant of the facts. In reply to such objec-tions, all that I can say is that I have used hot water daily for six years without the slightest perceptible injury, and have seen only uni-formly good results in persons for whom I have prescribed its daily and long continued use.''

A Pointer.

As every reader of this paper knows, it has become one of the fine arts to write attractive and interesting advertisements—especially

Now it seems to us that if, for instance, the orld-wide advertisers of Warner's Safe Rem-dies would adopt a style whereby they could orls in a startling story of, say-wolves, we elieve the immense sales of their medicines believe the immense sales of their medicines could be still more largely linereased. We give them the benefit of the idea at any event. Let it commence like this:

Pratter! Pratter! Pratter!
There it is again. It is not fifty yards from where he last halted. The steps are too light for those of an Indian. A grizzly would rush upon its victim with a roar of defiance and anger. A panther would hurl himself ithrough thirty feet of space, with a scream to unnerve the hardiest hunter. "Wolves," whispers the hunter, as a howl suddenly bursts upon his ear.

Wolves! The gaunt, grizzly wolves of the foot hills—thin and poor and hungry and savage—the legs tireless, the mouth full of teeth which can crack the shoulder bone of a buf-age—the legs treess, the mouth 1th of teeth which can crack the shoulder bone of a buffalo. He can see their dark forms flitting from point to point, the patter of their feet upon the parched grass proves that he is surrounded, yet no more in danger, and no more rounded, yet no more in danger, and no more effectually surrounded than he who trifles with the symptoms of kidney disease. And, you, reader, know whether or not you are a victim to its insidious encroachment. If your back aches, if your eyesight is failing, if your appetite is fickle, if your urine is not clear and of a pale straw color, do not hesitate on the prairie of danger, but flee to the negret haven of safety and resent to to the nearest haven of safety, and resort to the only known cure for kidney and liver troubles, Warner's Safe Cure. It is a duty you owe, not only to yourself, but to your family and society at large.

Delays are dangerous. Had the traveler not been overtaken in the had the traveler not been overtaken it the night, and unarned, the wolves would have had no terrors for him. We warn you just now, in broad daylight, before the wolves of disease sink their poisoned fangs deeply into your flesh and the night of death settles down upon you, to stop your ears to predice and bigotry and to fly to safety through the meaus we have pointed out.

Good Advice. From the Cleveland Leader.

It is high time the youth of this country stop and consider how to make a living. The world owes everybody a living in a certain sense, but a man will not live long if he sits down and waits for the ravens to feed him. Our young men should first get a common school education and then learn some good trade, and in that manner fit themselves for going through life. They cannot all be clerks and bookkeepers.

The Civil Service Folly.

In a recent communication in Frank Leslie's Weekly, ex-Senator T. C. Platt, of New York, takes very strong position against the so-called civil service laws, arguing that the system "shakes the people's confidence in its officers, is a cloak for favoritism, a screen for cowardice and falsehood, stimulates public lying, and is a pretense and a shadow, This is about the only political utterance that Mr. Platt ever made, that has the full and unqualified indorsement of THE CONSTI-TUTION. But in this we are with him heart and soul. The civil service as it is now conducted, is the most monstrous fraud ever perpetrated on the people of this government, and the strangest thing about it is that there are good democrats who give it their encouragement and support. Well, does Mr. Platt characterize the system as "o bugaboo to keep back frank and honest ambitions at the gate, and a hole in the rear of the tent to let in jugglers and adventurers."

We have before us as we write a speech of Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, at the recent democratic convention of that state, in which, after praising President Cleveland's administration, he announces that if "every republican who wore the badge of office had been turned out under that administration, Cleveland would now be in the white house." The experience of the democratic party on this question should serve as a moral to guide it in its future attitude in regard to this rank heresy which, having once proven a Trojan horse in the democratic camp, should no longer receive any countenance or consideration from the party. President Cleveland was, no doubt, sincere in his purpose to carry out in honesty the civil service policy to which he was committed, and his sincerity martyred the democratic party, but this is no reason for the party to cling longer to the folly. The republican party, profiting by the fata! experience of the democratic administration, is promptly renounced its pretended adherence to the system, and having been in power less than three months, has completely overturned in practice every vestige of the dangerous heritage left it by the retiring administration.

The democratic party should no longer follow this misleading will-o'-the-wisp, which, having once conducted it into the morass of defeat, is still in the advance, treacherously lighting the way for a similar result if we persist in following it. If the democracy is to come into power again, it should do it on the broad principles of demperatic faith, with the announcement that In future, democratic administrations must be conducted by democratic officers, responsible for the faithful performance of their duty to the government, through the democratic party.

I et us have no more mineing about this undemocratic system, but come out squarely against it. Such a declaration would be the strongest feature of the democratic platform of 1892.

No Carpetbaggers Wanted.

It is said that a strong pressure is being brought to bear upon President Harrison to appoint a Mr. Gilkerson judge of United States court in Florida, which position was made vacant by the death of judge Seattle.

Mr. Gilkerson is a Pennsylvania republican and a special political friend of Mr. Quay of that state, whose advice, it is reported, stands in great favor with the administration.

It is to be hoped that the president will be strong enough to refuse to do any such thing, notwithstanding the fact that his refusal would probably displease Mr. Quay. We don't know anything about the ability of Mr. Gilkerson to fill the position; but we do know that he is not the man for the place, and that the president will make a very serious mistake if he appoints him.

The time is past when the south should be put again under the hand of carpetbag rule, and we do not believe that President Harrison is willing to commit his administration to the policy which brought previous republican administrations into such disrepute in the south. The people of the south have but the kindest feeling to the president and his administration, and are willing to credit him in all fairness if he makes an honest endeavor to deal with the people of this section according to the policy which he has outlined. He has done nothing yet to take away their good will, which we believe it is his purpose to hold throughout his administration. The south asks no political favors at his hand, further than to be protected against a return of carpetbag rule. It is said that the president is inclined to appoint Mr. Gilkerson from the fact that the Florida republicans cannot agree upon a man of their own number and have consented, as far as they are concerned, to the appointment of a northern man. This does not alter the case in the slightest, for a principle is at stake, and the appointment of one carpetbagger would pave the way for a flood of others.

The south watches with interest the action of the president in this matter.

The Whipping-Post in Boston.

There have been eighteen thousand whippings in the Boston schools in one year, and yet, not very long ago, we saw in a Boston paper some remarks about the Georgia convict system and its cruelties.

The Georgia convict system is intended to punish criminals. It was organized for that purpose, and while it is a very mild sort of punishment, taking everything into consideration, it has been severely attacked by northern philanthropists who amuse themselves with a missionary business that ought to be carried on in their own back

Eighteen thousand whippings in the Bos son schools in one year!

Well, the Georgia convict system, invented by the republicans, has been in operation for many years, and yet there has not been one thousand whippings during that whole period.

Are the Boston school-boys criminals that they should receive such punishment? Are they murderers, rapers, burglars, incendiaries and all that sort of thing? Why cannot the law step in to protect these poor little fellows who have no one to appeal to?

We should be glad to hear from our Boston contemporaries on this point. What is the trouble? If the boys need such a tremendous amount of whipping they must be in a sad condition indeed.

Let the lights of discussion and investigation be turned on Boston.

How to Keep Cool.

Now that Old Probabilities has turned on the hot weather with a firm hand and a fervid disposition, people will be inquiring how to keep cool.

As a matter of fact, common sense persons need no advice on the subject. They are cool under all circumstances and conditions, unless it is when they run to catch a street car that has been sent off by a time-keeper who has no watch.

The way to keep cool is to keep goodhumored. There is no doubt that goodhumored men are sometimes warm, owing to the fact that they are jolly and fat, but no one ever heard them complaining about the weather to any great extent, unless it is when they are caught out in a shower without an umbrella.

The Washington Post says that the way to keep cool is to eat sparingly of meat; but this is nonsense. The coolest and most agreeable person on earth is the meat-eater, and the most irritable and unhappy is the person whose digestion will not permit him to eat meat.

.Eat lean meat-tender steak and chicken-with your vegetables, and you will have no trouble with the heat. Pork should be avoided, of course; but veal, mutton and all the vegetables, pot-liquor and dumplings, buttermilk and corn bread, go to make up a dinner to be enjoyed.

Above all things, let ice alone. It is a most deceptive affair. It is not only the nidus of microbes and bacteria, but it is unhealthy even when it is pure. It paralyzes the stomach, ruins the digestion, and leads to Bright's disease.

If you will drink, as you ought to, drink water fresh from the spring. If you want it seasoned give it a touch of lemon and sugar; but let ice alone. Ice is much colder in the snmmer than it is in the winter, and it is no more healthy at one season than at another.

We are giving some famous advice here; but the best thing, after all, is to keep in a good humor. The good-humored man may get too hot occasionally, but it doesn't worry him; and the man who isn't worried cares little for the heat.

THE American Samoan commissioners in Berlin have been eating and drinking a little too much for the good of their country. A stuffed American doesn't make a very, pretty picture as a diplomat.

THE New York Mail and Express says that the war was ended long ago. We are glad that Colonel Shepard has at last found it

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE CRITICISMS OF General Sherman on the fact that the South Carolina troops carried no United States flag in the centennial parade are an llustration of the snappishness and sourness that have overtaken him in his old age. The South Carolinians thought they were doing a big thing in displaying the Eutaw flag; and they were, for it was the only genuine revolutionary relie to be found in for heavy leather, such as wax, kip and split, and,

A Western Preacher's Views.

From the Jamestown, D. T., Alert

The text of the discourse was found in one of Paul's orations. Notwithstanding the fact that he was a bachelor, Paul discoursed profoundly and philosophically on the married relation, and it is ncontrovertible that if his advice were followed to the letter there would be no such thing as a divorce court today. The treacher adverted to this fact. He grew eloquent over his subject, as well be might do.

Here is a bit of genuine good news. Theater owners from Macon, Augusta, Athens, Savannab, Jacksonville, Mobile and hattanooga were represented in the distinguished gathering. The committee, after deliberation, passed a resolution that each manager represented should pledge himself to notify all the others when-ever a bad attraction came to his theater and a general boycott against it would be made all along the

What is Wealth?

From the Philadelphia Record. When a young woman of Miss Drexel's wealth and standing announces her intention to give up everything and become a nun it is hardly ecessary to discuss at length the unsatisfactory power of money. The set itself, considering the circumstances of the actor, is more instructive than a thousand sermons. To all intents and purposes Miss Drexel was a queen. She lived in a palace and had money enough to gratify every desire. Her servants were numbered by the score and they obeyed her slightest wish. The doors of society were open to her, and men and women of distinction were glad to call her friend. But notwithstanding all this she professes her entire willingness to nce it all and seclude herself within the walls of a convent because she is not happy where she is. Men and women with enough for comfort should take the lesson to heart.

Although production has been materially decreased since then, the market has not been re lleved of its surplus, and prices have fallen steadily. Rough leather has been held of late at about two cents a pound above what it was possible for the dealers to obtain for it, dealers to obtain for it.

It is not strange that such a state of affairs for three years has forced firm after firm to the wall. The failures since January 1 aggregate $1,300,000 i e llabilities, most of them being due to the abnormal ondition of the market.

ANOTHER BIG DEAL IN THE STOCK OF THE RICHMOND

AND DANVILLE.

THE TERMINAL MAKES A CLEAN SCOOP

And the Result is That Forty Thousand More Shares of Terminal Stock Will be Put Upon the Market.

NEW YORK, May 10. - [Special.]-The big trade made by the Richmond Terminal managers today was, no doubt, among those important negotiations which were referred to by the insiders, who said the day before yesterday that, because of such negotiations, it was especially undesirable that John H. Inman should resign the presidency of the Terminal company just at this time. The directors met today, and by a unanimous vote

CONCLUDED THE PURCHASE of 7,339 shares of Richmond and Danville railroad stock. This makes the Terminal company own the entire capital stock of When a the Richmond and Danville. controlling interest was bought about three years ago, certain minority stockholders declined to sell, and it was their interest which was bargained for today. The price paid today for the 7337 shares was the same as that paid for the majority stock three years ago, namely two hundred and thirty-five dollars a share. This purchase money is not paid in cash, but in securities of the Terminal company, as follows: For every share of Dan-ville stock, eighty-five dollars is to be paid

IN A FIVE PER CENT COLLATERAL TRUST Terminal bond, and the remaining $150 (making $235 making the price which Danville stock was bought) is to be paid in Terminal common stock at $26 per share.

This will require something over $4,000,000 of Terminal, which will be provided by an issue of that much new stock, amounting to just about twelve per cent increase of the present capitalization. The price paid for the Danville stock today is thought by some to be a fancy figure, but others count it a good bar-gain for the Terminal coupany. Nothing was heard of the trade until just before the market closed, and even then it was known to but very few. It proved open secret enough, however, to make free selling

AND A SHARP DECLINE in Terminal stock, the price breaking a full point to 25½ during the last fifteen minutes before 3 o'clock. It is suggested by the unsanguine tonight that this increase of stock is only guine tonight that this increase of stock is only an initiatory step in that direction which will, no doubt, lead to further action of the same sort. Those who approve what was done today say it was not only a legitimate, but an advan-tageous move, since the Terminal company actageous move, since the Terminal company acquires by the trade a big dividend-paying security, and pays for the greater part of it in its own common stock, which is in no sense a fixed charge. Whether the deal was wise or unwise, one undebatable fact results—there will now be over 40,000 shares more of Terminal stock than heretofore, and the market will have just that much more to take care of.

TAYLOR VS. FLIPPER. Lawyer Charles H. J. Taylor Sues the Rev.

J. Simeon Flipper. The Flipper-Taylor matter is about to wind up in the courts. Preacher Filipper was a leading spirit, and at which Lawyer Taylor was denounced for taking a suit against the Atlanta university, the quarrel has been growing deeper and deeper.

The meeting in question was held on Tuesday night in front of the courthouse, and speeches were made by several prominent colored brethren. The Rev. Flipper was particularly bitter in his denunciation of Lawyer Taylor, and when the following item appeared in Thursday morning's paper it created quite a sensation among the colored people, and es pecially those belonging to Flipper's church.

The item read as follows:

SOMEWHAT AMUSING.

Tuesday night the colored be eithren held an indignation meeting in front of the courthouse. Speeches were made denouncing C. H. J. Tavlor, the colored lawyer. The principal speaker was Rev. J. S. Flipper, who advised the colored people to refuse to aid Taylor in any way and to run him out of the city. Yesterday morning check No. 23 was handed into the Gate City bank in favor of J. S. Flipper for $30. This check was dated May 8th and signed by Lawyer Laylor. On investigation it was learned that Taylor and Flipper are now friends. So friendly are they that Flipper borrows the amount above from Taylor without needing any indorsers. And yesterday morning they were seen walking arm in arm around the Kimbail house block.

When the Rev. Mr. Flipper saw this he was The item read as follows:

FLIPER AND TAYLOR.

I noticed in this morning's Constitutions—a brief article headed 'Something Amusing," in which the indignation meeting was held to denounce Mr. Taylor, and I was the principal speaker. It is true I spoke against Mr. Taylor, and have the manhood to do it again. It is also true that yesterday I walked up the street with him to his office, and while he spoke of other persons who FLIPPER AND TAYLOR. yesterday I walked up the street with him to his office, and while he spoke of other persons who had his money and how they had treated him. I said to him, I want thirty dollars. He said you can get it. I had no use for the money. I borrowed it for a purpose, and that purpose was accomplished this morning through THE CONSTITTION. It shows to the democrats and republicons alike that Mr. Taylor is a scoundred, a vililian and a liar. I did not take the check to the bank. I asked Mr. Taylor to send it by some boy, but he said, I will go myself, and I left his office with the notice I would be back in the evening, at which time I returned and received the money. A man who will enter into a transaction of that kind and then so exp-se it as to have it find its way into the columns of the daily paper will resort to the lowest and meanest practices conceivable.

This dodger was circulated very freely

This dodger was circulated very freely among the colored people, and of course soon found its way into the hands of Lawyer Taylor. As soon as Taylor read the circular he proceeded at once to enter suit against the Rev. Flipper for cjvil libel, claiming $25,000 dama-

TAYLOR TALKS. Yesterday afternoon Taylor was seen by Constitution reporter, and in talking of the matter said: "Yes, I have just brought suit against the Rev. J. Simpson Flipper for $25,000 damages, and I base my suit on this circular," and he took from his pecket a dodger similar to the one printed above.

"Have you seen Flipper lately?"
"Yes. He came up to me yesterday and called me an infernal scoundrel and said, 'You have not the manhood to resent it,' and wanted to know why I had exposed what he called a private transaction, referring to the money I had loaned him. I said to him that I had told him I intended to do I paid him He then began abusing me again, calling me a lot of nasty names, and told me that if I was a man I would resent them. I replied that I was not fighting preachers, that I was a gen-tleman, and had respect for his calling if I did

"How about the story which Flipper tells about you once saying that you were about as much of a democrat as any of the washerwo-men in his congregation?"

"That's all stuff. The way all that originated was this: "On New Year's night, 1888, I was at Bethel church. I had with me about two hundred books, of which I am the author. Flipper knowing me for at that time I was United States minister and consul general to Libertal, had me brought forward, and at the conclusion of his meeting introduced me to his au-dience. Before doing so he either asked me verbally or in writing, I do not remember which, whether I was a democrat or repub-lican, that his congregation wanted to know. I think I said in reply, verbally, perhaps in writing, that seven-eighths of the democratic party is composed of laborers, and that the cooks, washerwomen, woodsawers and other negro laborers in the employ of democrats were democrats if they only understood themselves. Since that time I was elected to the democratic national convention which met in St. Louis. I have also not only made since then speeches for my party all over the country, but earry sears for it."

Taylor showed extracts from a number of papers in which his democratic utterance were quoted. One was an open letter to Governor Foraker, printed in the New York Star and the Cincinnati Enquirer, in the fall of 1887; another was a reply to Fred Douglass, and another open letter addressed "To My Democratic Negro Friends," and published in the Kansas City Times shortly after the national election.

"There is one thing more I want to say," said Taylor, "and that is that I intend to make the Rev. J. Simeon Flipper pay dearly for the shameful menner in which he has traduced my character, and besides the civil suit which I have just brought against him, I will go before the grand jury at its next neeting and have him indicted for criminal libel. May be by the time I get through with him some of the colored people of Atlanta will understand that it is none of their business what case a lawyer, white or black, may see fit to take. Why, if the negroes here all had their way, no lawyer would take a case against any of them, and they would be allowed to do as they please."

they please. Rev. Flipper Talks.

The Rev. J. Simeon Flipper was asked about the suit which Lawyer Taylor had filed against him. He said:
"I have heard of the filing of the suit, but ti has not given me the least bit of trouble. Taylor knows that there is no foundation for it, and his only ebject in making the case is to scare me; but he has got hold of the wrong man this time, for I don't propose to scare worth a cent. Why, it was even reported to me that he was on his way to my house with a warrant for my agreet, and that reported to me that he was on his way to my house with a warrant for my arrest, and that he intended to have me pui in jall right away. I only wish he had. It would have been the darkest day the Hon. Charles H. J. Taylor ever saw in his life. Nothing would have pleased me more than to have been marched up the street by a policeman in broad day-light, and Taylor at my side. But he didn't have the grit to do that. He didn't even have he manhood to resent the insult when I called him a liar and a scoundrel to his face,' "How about that check for $30? "That was a put up job on Taylor. The way occurred was this; While he was walking down street the other day, I approached him from the rear and when I came up with him I began talking about money. He told me of different people who had borrowed money of him. I said Taylor, I want $30; can't you let me have it? We went to his office and he made out a check payable tone hut I refused. made out a check payable to me, but I refused to take it to the bank, so he sent it by a bey, and I told him I would come back that evening for the money. My purpose in doing this was just to get him to publish the whole thing, because I knew if he did it would show what kind of a wan he was early would show what kind of man he was, and would help the cause of

"Why did you denounce Taylor in your church and at the courthouse meeting?"
"Well, the fact is, I did not denounce Taylor for taking that suit ogainst the university, out it was the principle that I fought and no "The principle-how?"

"This way. If Taylor had been a true friend to his race he would never have allowed that suit to go to the courts. No matter what the fee might have been, he would have had settled outside the courts. The better class it settled outside the courts. The retter class of colored people feel that Taylor has done them a great wrong, and, so far as they are concerned, he will hereafter be given the cold shoulder. When he first came here we were all glad to welcome him, but now that his true character has been revealed, the sooner has heaves the hetter it will be for him?

FOR ATLANTA'S GOOD.

A ROUSING MEETING AT THE CHAM. BER OF COMMERCE.

The Call Issued by the Board of Directors Res sponded to by Representative Men-The Investment Company Almost Assured.

The Chamber of Commerce Investment company is now an assured fact.

Nearly one hundred of Atlanta's representative chizens responded to the call for the meeting in the chamber of commerce hall yesterday afternoon. The meeting was full of enthusiasm and interest. Over $12,000 were subscribed.

Before the meeting was called to order the gentlemen in groups of three, four and a half ozen discussed the scheme, and with all it found favor. At the hour appointed for the meeting Hon. R. B. Bullock arose, saying:
"Gentlemen, I nominate for chairman of this meeting Mr. J. G. Oglesby, president of the chamber of commerce." Mr. Oglesby was elected, and then Mr. Sanders, secretary of the chamber, was made

Mr. Oglesby took the stand, saying:

"Doubtless you all know why we are here. However, it may not be out of place for me to say that you have been asked to come so that we may ascertain whether or not the citizens of Atlanta are willing to subscribe to the project set on foot by the chamber of commerce. I take it for granted that you all know what that is, else you would not be here. This is a day of schemes, and I regret to say that too many are for the gain of one man or set of men. That cannot be said of this scheme we are about to discuss, because it comes from men whom you all know are working for the interest of Atlanta. The scheme or suggestion is made by good men who have backed it up with $10,000 of their own money. Now, if the people of Atlanta, after reading Mr. Oglesby took the stand, saying: backed it up with $10,000 of their own money. Now, if the people of Atlanta, after reading and studying the circular we have sent out, want it let them come up and subscribe to something which has already been too long delayed. Atlanta has its railroadadvantages, climatic advantages which no other southern city has. In it a man can work all the time. chimatic advantages which no other southern city has. In it a man can work all the time. He can work six days in the week and fifty-two weeks every year. We have fine streets, fine schools, fine churches and are surrounded by a fine country filled with prosperous towns. Those facts your press and your people are always making known. But the time is here when we must back our arguments with cash. Competing cities are getting the advantages of us. We don't have to buy one. Leave that for the frontier towns and the towns of booms. Atlanta has long ago passed that age, and today she is the most solid and progressive city in the south. But when we find manufacturers seeking a location, we must give them more than a moral support when the propositions are safe investments. If we put money in an enterprise of this kind it will not be wasted, but will be watched carefully. It wasted, but will be watched carefully. It is a satisfaction to me that the chamber of commerce's suggestion has been met with such absolute approval as this audience would indicate. The matter is now in your hands for you to put it

MR. GRADY TALKS.

Mr. Grady was called on and said:

"I consider this the most important movement for Atlanta that was ever started with so, little discussion. The best friend of Atlanta will not deny that she has reached as far as commercial relations will carry her. I do not believe Atlanta's commercial territory is as large today as it was ten years ago. Under the interstate commerce law, our railroad commission and the equalization of freights, we cannot extend our commerce farther.

"We must either grow or stand still. If we are to grow, we must rely on something be-"We must either grow or stand still. If we are to grow, we must rely on something besides commerce to carry us. That something is manufactures. I do not hope to see Atlanta compete with Birmingham or Anniston in raw material, but I do believe that Atlanta should become to those cities just what Philadelphia is to Pittsburg. We can be also should be a seed to be seen to the set in their what Philadelphia is to Pittsburg. We can handle skilled labor and products in their secondary process and our freight advantages, our climate and our wide-reaching commercial currents, give us advantages of distribution that more than outweigh the trifling advantage of freight. A practical man told me once that the freight on coal and then for $1,000 believ would be $11 less in Birman told me once that the freight on coal and iron for a $1,000 boiler would be $1 less in Birmingham than in Atlanta, while the selling advantage in Atlanta would be at least $5.

"This is the wisest movement we have yet started. A subscription of $1,000 is considerable, and yet it would be called only at the rate of $50 a month. It may not all be called in thirty mouths. This is nothing but a building and loan association, and you would think nothing of taking eight or ten shares. Whenever an assessment is called it means the immediate location of a new industry that will at once begin to do lusiness in the city, and Mr. Kempne was wise in asking retail grocers to help this movement out, because they will profit by it. Every class will profit by it. New operatives means more trade, more tenants, more customers. Every citizen of Atlanta is interested in this movement, whether capitalist, merchant, this movement, whether capitalist, merchant, manufacturer or professional man.

"See what this will do. If we raise $100,000 it means half a million invested in manufactures in the next twenty months. Much of this money would be used twice. If loaned it would be received, if invested, realized and reinvested. be repaid, if invested, realized and reinvested. be repaid, if invested, realized and reinvested.

I do not believe it possible to fail, because common sense and business is behind this movement. The merchants of Atlanta organized it in their deliberate business meeting, and backing it with $10,000 of their money have asked the citizens to make up the rest. We cannot afford to let it fail.

Think what the half million dollars invested is now industries or the autorement of these in new industries or the enlargement of those already here would mean. We cannot grow farther without them; with them our growth is absolutely unlimited. I will subscribe

The remark was applauded.
Mr. Goodwin was called for. He said:
"I came here not to talk, but because of the interest I feel in this scheme. I have studied "I came here not to talk, but because of the interest I feel in this scheme. I have studied it carefully since receiving the circular, and I must say that in the nineteen years I have lived in Atlanta I have never seen a movement organized with better promise than this one, and I intend to take all I can. I wish it was so that this board could be given the power to say what each man in Atlanta should subscribe. I think everybody should feel that he owes a debt of gratitude to those who have worked out this suggestion, and it will be a reflection on the city not to carry it through, Mr. Grady has covered it thoroughly and I know of nothing I could say which would make it plainer. I know that it will help the growth of the city. I believe it is only a question of time that our location and advantages will bring manufacturers here, but this movement will advance that time. Men who have looked at this carefully, think it good, and I think it safe to follow them to come to their relief and safe to follow them to come to their relief and support. Let those who are here go out and agitate this matter, talk about it, and then let's have a great mass meeting in some hall where an arranged programme can be carried out. When laid before the people it will win, and I knew it."

President Oglesby smiled happily and said:

"I just feel it in my bones that every man in this house will subscribe or will raise the money needed. Bemember that not a dollar will be invested until the most searching in-quiry has been made. Men specially qualified for those lines will be appointed to investigate men who ask us to invest, and when men come here asking that we invest with them, men who ask us to invest, and when men come here asking that we invest with them, and saying they have $40,000, we well know that they have the $40,000 before taking stock with them, and we will know who they are and that they are honest men. The directors of the chamber of commerce have backed their judgment with a subscription of $10,000, and when they subscribe $10,000 you know it means $10,000 and not a little less. They are responsible men. As they say in the church, who is willing to subscribe $1,000.

MR. H. I. KIMBALL'S REMARKS.

Mr. H. I. KIMBALL'S REMARKS.

Mr. H. I. Kimball was called on and said:
"Of course I am in sympathy with this movement. It has been near my heart for a long time and to see it so well begun and in such good hands is very gratifying.

"Mr. Grady said $100,000 would locate a half million dollars worth of manufacturing interprises. It will do much more than that. I have had opportunities to watch the operation of such organizations as this on a much larger scale, and those of you who have not seen it cannot imagine its far reaching effect. The subscription of twenty per cent you give to a new enterprise is not worth near so much as the strong backing it gets from an organization of this kind. When a new factory comes in as the strong backing it gets from an organiza-tion of this kind. When a new factory comes in it takes a long time for them to get the footing with the banks that your old established firms have. The banks have not the time or the organization to investigate them as this asso-ciation could. An organization like this would give them a backing and a financial standing that would be worth much more than the amount you invest with them.

'Many of you get tired of going 'round these streets in the interest of the city. It takes patience, and many a time a man like Dr. Spalding, who has done a great deal of it, says: 'I'll never go on the street again. I tell you it's hard work to do it, exceedibly it work to do it. never go on the street again. I tell you, it's hard work to do it, especially if you are independent and can pay your way, when you know that you are working for the large property holders who will profit most by it.' But I tell you I enjoy it. As I said to Mr. Inman who cuts the coupons off the Kimball house, I get more enjoyment out of it every day than he does out of his coupons. I tell you this persistent effort is what builds up a city, and I will say like my friend Goodwin, I will subscribe what I can, I don't know yet how much." ribe what I can, I don't know much."
"I'll take $500," said Mr. Goodwin.

Mr. Henry Boylston spoke in favor of the plan, urging its success.

Mr. T. J. Hightower moved that hooks of subscription be opened. The motion was carried.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 9th.—Dear Sir: Inclosed please find postal addressed to Mr. Arnold Broyles, chairman, which we will be glad to have you return with the significance of your willingness to become a member of the Atlanta Alumni club of the University of Georgia.

You have, no doubt, become informed through the press of the city of the movement on foot to organize such a club, and are aware of its purposes. It is particularly desired that every former student of the university living in the city, whether having graduated or not, become a member of the club.

A prompt reply is requested, as it is proposed to have the alumni meet Chancellor Boggs at an early date, and the arrangements for the reception and banquet will be governed by the answers received to this circular letter. Give your name and address, so that we can post you by mail when nacessary to communicate with members of the club. Respectfully yours,

The entertainment given last evening by Miss May Loyd, at her father's handsome home on Forsyth street, was one of the most delightful and beautiful ever enjoyed by Atlanta society. The wide verandas were inclosed and lighted with rich eastern hanging lamps, and the floors were spread with handsome rugs and tiger skins, while the pillars and walls were trimmed and hung with garlands of smilax and roses. Two long drawing oms and the wide hallway were used for dancing one room being decorated in red roses and the other in white and pink. The chandeliers were twined with smilax and the manuels almost concealed by rich ferns and palms. In the center of the table was a superb epergne filled with la France roses, and placed on a large round mirror bordered with smilax. The chandelier above was trimmed with smilax and ornamented with pink and blue ribbons, which extended to the table below. Most beautiful among the ornaments was a large cut glass blue and gold bowl filled with magnolias, white fringed pinks and white tea roses. Another bowl of American beauty roses was at the opposite end, while beautifully decorated cakes, cut glass dishes of candy, silver candelbras containing blue and pink candles. formed the other ornaments. The handsome carved oak buffet was adorned with fruit and flowers. The mantel was banked with tropical plants while large mirrow above was twined with garland roses and smilax. Everything delicate and delic ious was served in the daintiest style and all during the repast the musicians concealed by palms be-neath the hallway staircase discoursed delightful

Nearly all the flowers for this entertainment were tributes to Miss Loyd's popularity from friends and admirers. This has been her first season and since her entrance into society she has gained love and admiration and the reputation of being one of the most beautiful young girls in Atlanta.

OHIOANS IN ATLANTA.

A Visit to the Blue Ridge Quarries - A Day in Atlanta. "You may say what you like about our visit, but be sure to say more about Georgia marbles. We are all enthusiastic over them, and every body in this party believes that the Georgia marbles lead the world." The speaker was Mr. H. H. Weakley, of Dayton, Ohio, who was one of the party of Ohioans who spent yesterday in Atlanta. They reached the city late Thursday night, coming from a tour of the marble quarries along the Marietta and North Georgia railroad.

The party, which had its own car, consisted of the following gentlemen: the following gentlemen:

J. A. Dewar, general manager Blue Ridge
Marble company, Nelson, Ga.; Harry Dewar, secretary and treasurer of the Blue Ridge Marble company, Cincinnati; John W. Stoddard, president Stoddard Manufacturing company, Dayton, Ohio; T. S. Babbett, capitalist, Dayton; H. H. Weakley, capitalist, Dayton S. J. Patterson, wholesale coal. Dayton Alfred White, marble dealer, Cinciunati; C. P. Taft, president of the Times-Star, Cincinnati nati; J. C. Benton, lawyer, Cincinnati; Charles E. Ilsley, iron merchant, Cincinnati; Charles Lehmer, attorney, Cincinnati; D. L. Thompson, capitalist, Waterfown, Conn. The party came under the auspices of the Blue Ridge Marble company, which is the rep-

Blue Ridge Marble company, which is the representative of the Georgia marbles in Chicinnati. Several of the gentlemen are stockholders of the company and others came to look over the field with a view to investments in the south.

This company was organized in 1886, and as the successor of the firm of Harry Dewar & Co., has been selining the Georgia marbles under a contract with the Georgia Marble company. Recently the Blue Ridge company decided to make an increase of its capital stock, stating as a reason for this that its business has grown to such extent that the supply of marble is inadequate. The company has secured the exadequate. The company has secured the ex-clusive right to 1,200 acres of the marble land clusive right to 1,200 acres of the marble land in Pickens and other counties along the line of the Marietta and North Georgia. These quarries have been opened and the samples are highly spoken of by the experts.

It was to look into this property that the Ohio gentlemen come to Georgia. They spent a day in their tour of inspection and then, upon the invitation of Mr. Paul Romare, came on to Atlanta on to Atlanta.

on to Atlanta.

Mr. Romare, Mr. O. C. Fuller, Captain J. R. Wylie, Mr. James L. Dickey, and other Atlanta gentlemen took them in hand. The morning was spent in visiting points of interest. In the afternoon the visitors were driven over the city and its suburbs All were enthusiastic over Atlanta, and said so most emphatically. They left on an even-ing Western and Atlantic train for their ng Western and Atlantic train for their nomes.

The gentlemen comprising the party are rominent and wealthy Ohioans. Most of them had never been in Atlanta or Georgia before, and were enthusiastic in their expressions of wonderment at the substautial character of all that they saw.

GRAND OPENING TODAY.

The Whitehall Garden to Be a Feature of Atlanta. The Whitehall garden will be formally open-

C. D. Kinnebrew and W. A. Vernoy will spare no pains to make it the most popular place in Atlanta. The rooms have been finished in natural woods, pretty tables are in the different nooks and corners, and the garden is made attractive by tropical plants and flowers.

Mr. Vernoy is known as one of the most adept mixers of fancy drinks in the country. He is the concector of such artistic drinks as 'yellow bucks,' "antelope coolers," "frozen glu fizzes," "brandy splits," and all that go s to tempt the palate.

The opening will be held at four o'clock this afternoon. There will be music on hand all the time and the best of drinks will be served. Every, thing that goes into their make-up is strictly excels lent.

Three in a Row.

The first by Mr. George S. Lowndes, who shows his unbounded confidence in him by giving to the contractor of his beautiful residence, on Washington, a premium to have Mr. Thrower do his plastering.

Judge W. R. Hammend follows suit by a big advance over the other bids to plaster his house, on the same street.

Mr. H. S. Johnson, of Chamberlin, Johnson & Co., the bim mark one-eighth more to do his work air. ii. 5. Jourson, of Chamberlin, Johnson & Co., gives him nearly one-eighth more to do his work than others offered to do it for.

In addition to these three beautiful houses on Washington street, Mr. Thrower will put the adamant on the fine residence of Mr. T. Morgan, of Bruce & Morgan, north Atlanta, This gives him four of the finest houses to plaster now being built in the city. Quite a compliment, indeed.

A Fast Run. Engineer Tom Stoddard, of the Central railroad, made a remarkably fast run on the first district of the main stem on the night of the 8th instant. He ran 70 miles in 95 minutes, making seven stops, and ; ulling a train of seven coaches. His engine was 549, one of the number recently purchased by the Central Raifroad company. Engineer Stoddard says he can duplicate the run whenever it is necessary.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, May 10.—The stock market today was again a professional one from the beginning to the end, and though there was a heavy to weak the end, and though there was a neary to weak tone throughout the day fluctuations were ex-tremely small, except in two or three stocks which monopolized the interest taken in speculation. The indisposition to trade was very marked even at the opening, and first prices were but slightly changed from the final figures of last evening, while the business done was the smallest for any day this week at that time of day. Local operators were inclined to follow Loudon. Commission people were doing literally nothing, but the poor impression made by Chicago in the Atchison directory em-boldened traders to attack that stock in the hope of bringing out long stop orders, which to a certain degree was successful, and that stock was hammered down 1% per cent from its closing figures of last evening. St Paul was only moderately active, and notwithstanding the calling in of loaned stock and a premium of 1.31 of 1 per cent for use, that stock fluctuated only 1/2 per cent throughout the day. A drive at Atchison brought out good support at the decline, and after the first rally that stock was comparatively neglected. Transcontinental e of the leaders in point of activity. but like St. Paut it fluctuated over an extremely narrow range, while it maintained an exception ally strong tone. Dullness and stagnation were the principal features of the trading until toward the close, when a drive was made at Richmond and West Point, which yielded over 1 per cent. A strong feature of the day was Chicago Gas Trusts. The market finally closed dull and heavy at about the lowest prices, which, however, were only slight fractions different from the opening figures in most cases. The total business was 186,000 shares. Chicago Gas rose 1½ per cent and Manhattan 1, while Richmond and West Point lost 1½ and Atchison 1½. In the unlisted department there was but little feature, c crything being heavy but Cotton Oil, and a Co., in their cotton circular, say: Liverpool went to pieces today in a manner that was not at all encouraging to those operators who have been fol-lowing the bulls' side, but our market has not shown the same degree of weakness. Some lines of long cotion have been thrown on the market as stop orders were reached, and prices have declined eighteen points from last evening's close. At one of the device we are deleved about the feeling was somewhat unsettled. July opened at yesterday's stime during the day the market was a tew points lower, but this decline was recovered and the market showed a better tone for steadiness than for fome weeks past. The interior movement was very light, and it is doubtful if the plantation movement exceeds last year at the same time. The fact governing prices are not those which can be breeast from this market. Livrpool is the military trade was reported in how products and an area of the close. facts governing prices are not those which can be facts governing to the close.

An active trade was reported in hog products and the governing prices are not those which can be facts governing to the close.

Description of the prices are not those which can be facts governing to the close.

we may make. The demand for spot cotton con inues. A good character of cotton brings readily % cent over the price for contracts. With regard to the Chicaso market we would say: Wheat—With-out the support of buying orders, wheat opened unchanged in prices, but was quickly offered down by the crowd. This state of things conflicted until July touched 79% and the offeridgs were absorbed. Following this the market hung between 79% and 80 till the bears managed to get short to the scalpers, who in turn led the market up on light offerings, and at 80% the shorts came in and bought of the scalping longs. There has been a noticeable carcity or news, and the only thing the buils hav had is the continued warm weather, which forces them to believe the wheat crop is burning up. Local traders have sold as little corn today on local rains through the corn belt. The feeling in corn is guided to some extent by the action in the wheat market, the volume of trade not being large. Provision opened weak on the receipts of hogs, but the decline was only temporary. There was a good deal of covering by local traders, to which the market responded sharply.

HUBBARD, PRICE & Co.

NEW ORLEANS, May 10-[Special.] -Glenny & Violett, in their cotton circular today, say: We have another day of considerable fluctuations with all, the advance of yeste-day lost. The market opened 2 to 3 points down in Liverpool, closing 5 64d lower. New York closes 18 down on near month and 9 lower on winter months. Our market at one time showed a decline of 20 points on July as selling at 10-39 against our closing of vesterday, 10 59. A ter several fluctuations we closed steady at a decline of 15 points on the summer months and 9 points on fall months. We have private dispatches saying that Liverpool was manipulated in order to buy in shorts, and also that in New York the winter ths show comparative strength. The market, ever, is very nervous. Port receipts show a loss 2,000 bales as compared with last year, and for the week lost 1,500 bales. Interior receipts are 5,000 against 8,000 bales last year. Stocks show a decrease of 100,000 bales as compared with last year which is the smallest on record for this date and, figure, the same as first week of July. Shipments are 14,000 against 31,000 last year. Pontation movement is about 2,500 less; spots here dull and easier. Quotations unchanged-middling 10%

GLENNY & VIOLETT. NEW YORK, May 10 .- [Special. [-Henry Clews & Co.'s cotton circular on the market today says: The cotton market, under review for the past week, has ruled feverish and irregular, with wide and frequent fluctuations. Liverpool has been in control of the market during the entire week, and their efforts have been directed toward shaking out the long interest here. During the early part of the week the market began to weaken and the decline continued uninterrupted until Thursday, when Liverpool unexpectedly improved and we had a rise of about 15 points. It was thought that the better feeling would continue yesterday, but contrary to expectations, Liverpool reported a decline at the opening, and showed weakness all the day. the closing being 4-64 to 4-6 below yesterday's prices Our market was weak in sympathy and declined 20 to 13 points. Large quantities of long cotton were thrown on the market, and this, with spot orders coming out on the decline, caused a very weak feeling; and at times the market looked quite pan-icy. The covering of shorts caused a rally of about 6 points, but part of this was afterward lost and at the close the market was only steady.

The game was a long, hard struggle, but many pretty plays were made. Quinn on first many pretty plays were made. Quinn on first distinguished himself and made many friends, while Howe got in his best work. The playing was at no time dull, and during the game was frequently sharp and rapid. One inning was played inside of ten minutes. Shes got his eye on the ball and thumped it hard. Both teams were apparently as fond of errors as base hits. The special from Memphis with the score below tells the story of the game. The victory was a surprise to many Atlantice.

Eleven Innings in Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 10.— [Special.] — Eleven innings were necessary to decide today's game between Memphis and Atlanta.

In the first half of the seventh inning Memphis made three runs, and to it the score at seven to seven, on an error of Quinn's, a two bagger by Dugan and a triple by Cassidy. Then Atlanta got a lead of three runs on a base on balls, an error of Dugan's, and singles by Quinn and Shea. Memphis made another run in the eighth and two in the ninth, on lively slugging and opportune errors of the visitors.

Again the score was tied.

le visitors.

Again the score was tied.

Atlanta was flanked in the ninth.

Memphis batted out a run in the tenth, so did the xistions.

In the eleventh Memphis was blank by Howe's sensational stop of a hot liner.

For Atlanta, Quinn rached first base on a grounder to second base and scored on Shea's corking two bagger, winning the game. The game was the most exciting yet played on the home grounds. Umpire Heath punished both side impartially.

His name is McCullough and he comes from Jersey City. He arrived here this morning, went in the box this afternoon and won the game from the New Orleans aggregation. He yielded only eight hits and struck out seven men. He has good control of the ball, great speed and deceptive curves. The game this afternoon was the best of the season and has revived interest in the sport here. The score follows:

The Chattanooga Game.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 10.—[Special.]— The finest game for the home club was played here today between the locals and Charleston. There were only three errors made during the entire game, were only directors made during the chine game, only one of which is chargeable to the locals, but that one gave the visitors their only run. Two men were out and Miller muffed a pointed ball to shortstop. The next man hit for three bases. The features of the game were the pitching of Jones and the fielding of Toobey and Applegate. The visitors could not hit Jones's halls. Score.

For a Picnic, or an Entertainment-Ladies of Atlanta and Vicinity All Love Good Ice. Cream, Ice Cream.

Hot weather has at last arrived, and we bink it safe to predict its abiding with us for some me. You'are hot. What will you do to keep cool? For your own information, read what we have to say. Some people have an aversion for defusive advertisements, while some never sead advertisements of any kind, but it only requires a few moments to peruse this, and we respectfully request you for your own benefit to digest this article. Do you contemplate giving an "High Tea?" or has Cupid so entwined affection in your property of the p Ten?" or has Cupid so entwined affection in your home circle that renders necessary garlands of happiness, nuptial ties, etc., or if a special dining is on hand, a social, a pichle, or an entertainment of any importance, be sure, be sure, we say, if you would elicit encombuns and have your fete spoken of "as the occasion of the season," to have none in our ice cream served. Now you, who have never tried our cream, say; why? We will answer you thuswiso. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies and gentlemen in Atlants who have never tried our pure cream, ice cream, to visit our store and partake, with our compliments, as much as in their judgment will induce belief of its excellence and superiority over all oream sold in Atlanta. This ice cream is just such cream say ou get at all the fashionable "enfes" of this country, whose caterer is complicated and only requires a trial to its fash. whose caterer is a connoissour and only requires rial to be in favor. We have all flavors, chocolate trial to be in favor. We have all favors, chocoiate, coffee, vanillas, lemon, strawberry, and if you want any flavor we have not, we will make it for you. The cans used are all new, made by our Conkliu Manufacturing company, and cleanliness rules supreme. The large recepticle for holding and freezing the cream is made of iron, lined with one-quarter inch porcelain. For an entertainment we have the best packing cans and tube in the city, and we guarantee to pack it so that it will freeze hard, and keep for hours and hours. It is "just the thing to have Hoyt & Thorn's ice cream. We desire that all the ladles in At anta will come over and see our arrangements and test our cream. We will be satisfied with your judgment. Try any cream you please, then try ours. We will deliver free to any part of the city, packed well, and guaranteed to keep and freeze any quantity from one quart to one hundred gallons. Call for our cream at your picnics at the parks. Try ours once, and you can never be decieved. Very respectfully, Beecham's Pills cure bilious and nervous ills. Convincing Proof.

In many instances it has been proven that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., will cure blood poison in its worse phases, even when all other treatment fails.

A. P. Brunson, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had 24 running ulcers on one leg and 6 on the other, and felt greatly prostrated. I believe I actually swallowed a barrel of medicine, in vain efforts to cure the disease. With little hope I finally acted on the urgent advice of a friend, and got a bottle of B. B. B. I experienced a change, and my despondency was somewhat dispelled. I kept using it until I had taken sixteen bottles, and all the ulcers, rheumatism and all other horrors of blood poison have disappeared, and at last I am sound and well again, after an experience of twenty years of torture." Robt. Ward, Maxey, Ga. writes: "My disease was pronounced a tertiary form of b'ood poison. My face, head and shoulders were a mass of corruption, and finally the disease began eating my skull bones. My bones ached; my kidneys were deranged, I lost fiesh and strength, and life became a burden. All said I must surely die, but, nevertheless, when I had used ten bottles of B. B. I was pronounce well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me. have now been well over twelve months." Iw PERSONALS.

PALPITATION of the heart, nervousness, tremblings, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weak-ness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion. $250 for a Postage Stamp.

From the New York Journal. The highest price on record for a postage stamp was realized last week at the Mart, Tohenhouse yard, when an unusual 4 cent British Guians stamp of 1836 was knocked down to Buhl, the deal-er, for £50, says London Truth. The same gentle-man also bought a similar stamp, which, however, had been through the post, for £37. I presume that Mr. Buhl was commissioned to buy these rarities by some customer of exceptional wealth, or perhaps of exceptional idiotey.

A GROWING ORDER.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MA-CHINISTS' CONVENTION.

The Original Name of United Machinist and Mechanical Engineers is Discarded and the New Name Substituted-Delegates and Election of Officers.

The National Association of Machinists. That is the new name of a growing order.

Last Monday the United Machinists and Mechanical Engineers of America met in convention. After a week's hard work the con-cention adjourned yesterday at noon. A finer body of representative young men as never assembled in the city of Atlanta, and during their stay here the delegates have not only enjoyed themselves, but have done nuch to promote the good of the order.

The movement was started in Atlanta year ago, and Atlanta bears the honor of being made the permanent headquarters of the order for the future.

THE DELEGATES.

The list of delegates to the convention is as follows: Atlanta lodge, No. 1, H. T. Garrett, John McCloud, J. W. Cowhig. Unity, No. 2, Florence, S. C., W. W. Mc-Millan.

The executive committee consisted of T. W.
Talbott, chairman; W. L. Dawley, secretary;
W. H. Blackburn, treasurer; George Dampman, William Farley, Fred Castle, John Pendleton.

THE NEW OFFICERS. Yesterday the name of the association was changed, and there was a full board of officers elected for the new organization, as follows:
T. W. Talbott, master machinist; J. J. Creamer, foreman: C. E. Ellicott, past master; Henry Henser, conductor; J. R. Miles, in-

A HISTORIC GAVEL.

Ar. J. J. Creamer presented to the association a historic gavel. He said, among other things; "and now, my brothers, from the building of Solomon's temple the gavel has been emblematic of authority. It has become a fixed and necessary adjunct of the position of presiding officer. With this knowledge before us. I am here to present in behalf of my ore us, I am here to present in behalf of my odge, a gavel. This gavel is an ordinary one and yet an extraordinary one, and yet an extraordinary one It has a history which I will outline in a brief manner. It is made of wood cut from the interest of the interest o from a tree which rooted in the Emerald Isle.

The tree from which this gavel is made is growing in ground rendered historic by the featful crash of war and hushed in the death of good and true men, whose dust now lies at the foot of the tree from which this gavel is made.

* * Accept it, brethren, and with it our best wishes, and let us all unito in the hope and determination that the good work done at this session may be beneficial to our organization and that when we re-assemble, twelve months hence, and the gavel is rapped, we may rejoice to know it finds an echo in every city from a tree which rooted in the Emerald Isle. joice to know it finds an echo in every city from Maine to Texas, and from the Gote City to California. In conclusion allow me to tender you Richmond's greeting, wisning you God speed in your work and thank you one and all for your kind attention."

and all for your kind attention."

MASTER TALBOTT'S REPLY.

In reply Mr. Talbott said:
Brother Delegates: In behalf of this grand lodge I accept this noble and historic emblem of appreciation tendered by delegates, true and tried in our beloved order here representing, one of our noblest lodges, situated at the capital of that historic state, known as the 'Old Virginia.' In accepting the gavel, brother delegates, I find it iar beyond my ability to express sufficient graditude and hore that at our next convention the gavel may call to order representatives from every state in the union; and I promise, as your grand mosser, that I shall enforce the call of

MR. FIGG'S NOMINATION.

In nominating Mr. T. W. Talbott for the grand master of the order, Mr. Figg, of Richmond, delivered a glowing tribute to the work of Mr. Talbott in organizing the order and as chairman of the executive committee. His speech was received with marked applause. Mr. Talbott was unanimously elected.

In accepting the position Mr. Talbott made a stirring address, thanking the body for the confidence reposed in him, and predicting a most useful and prosperous future for the order. MR. FIGG'S NOMINATION.

perous future for the order. ANOTHER GAVEL. A newly constructed silver plated gavel, made of metal, in such a way as to be very light and easily wielded, was presented to the association by Mr. Ulysses Lewis, in behalf of the retiring executive committee. Mr. Lewis livered a most felicitous address, short to the point, which was received with pro onged cheers. EESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.

Before adjournment it was resolved,

1. That no construction of words in the power of our committee could do justice to the feelings of this body for the warm appreciation and welcome extended us by Hon. Mayor Gienn, Hon. Hoke Smith, Rev. Samuel Small, and other public citizens of the beautiful city of Atlanta.

2. To the executive and arrangement committee, of Atlanta todge, No. 1, not forgetting Brother W. S. THE OFFICERS ELECTED.

Meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving Club Last Night.

The driving club elected officers last night. The meeting was held at the chamber of ommerce, Mr. Jack J. Spalding, chairman of the committee, presiding.

The question of officers was the first considered. Upon motion of Mr. J. R. Wylie it was decided to elect a president, vice president and

Mr. Don Bain moved the appointment of a Mr. Don Bain moved the appointment of a committee on nominations.

This motion prevailed, and Messrs. Bain, Wylle and Wilkins were made members of it. The committee retired and reported the following: For president, R. B. Ridley: for vice president, Humphreys Castleman; for directors, J. A. Fitten, Joseph Thompson, Jack J. Spalding, John T. Ryan and John W. Grant. This ticket went through and these gentlemen were elected. The election of a secretary and treasurer and the matter of by-laws were left to the directors to decide.

Peachtree Park. I have just returned from Peachtree Park, the new town on the Air-Line railroad. It is truly a beautiful spot for a suburban village. Peachtree road runs through the entire length of the town, from north to south, forming one of the most ats tractive streets in the place. Then there are wide o west. Then there are other handsome streets run ning parallel with Peachtree. The railroad authori-ties have pledged themselves to put down a side rack there within the next few weeks, so there will be no difficulty in getting lumber and all necessary articles transported to the ground for building purposes. I was told that very soon there would be an auction sale of some of these beautiful lots. We learn also that some of Atlanta's best citizens have already invested there and intend building by the time the heated months of summer open upon us, and thereby furnish a quiet, healthy and pleasant retreat for their wives and little ones from the dust. hent, smoke and sickness of the city. This is to be pu c'y a residence town. No steam engines or steam works of any kind will be allowed within the limits of this place to contaminate the purity of the atmosphere and water. Some of the most desirable lots will front on a large lake which will be supplied with boats and fish. Every hing is being done to make it as attractive a home town as any one would desire, and being only a short and beantiful drive out, the weary merchant, mechanic or professional man can easily and with great benefit to himself enjoy his evenings with his family in this invigorating atmosphere, and return each morning feeling as if he had taken a new lease on life. The old citizens around inform us that rheumatism and lung disease are unknown in that ection of the country.

The grounds have a number of springs of pure estone water, and also several mineral spring mpregnated with iron and other valuable minerals The springs are being neatly fitted up. This place is well worth the attention of citizens in the low country, who desire a retreat for the summer. They ay secure a lot cheap and place a cottage thereor and take their families here instead of spending their means at the more fashionable and costly watering places. Let the people of Florida, with whom our people sympathized with so warmly last summer, think of this favored spot, and let any others in search of a healthful retreat attend the approaching sale, the time of which will soon be published, and secure a lot for a cottage.

Delays are dangerous. A dollar spent for Hood's Sarsaparilla now may prevent illness which will be expensive and hard to bear. Now is the time to take it, in order to derive the greatest good.

A Preacher Suspended. May 9th, 1889. - To All Whom It May Conmr. This is to certify that Revs. Lewis H. Smith Macon, Ga., J. A. Davis of Milledgeville, Ga., V. C. Gaines of Eatonton, Ga., D. T. Greene of Columbus, and Cassia Milton of Geneva, G., were appointed as a special committee to try the case of Rev. William H. Smith, of Paimetto, Ga., who was Rev. William H. Smith, of Palmetto, Ga., who was charged with gross immorality committed at Talbotton, Ga., during the years 1885, 1887 and 1885. The said William H. Smith had been tried before the civil court in the county of Talibot. Talbotton, Ga., and convicted for the said gross immorality. The said committee appointed by me did hear evidence in the case yesterday, at Talbotton, against the said William H. Smith, and safter prayer and due consultation they found him guilty of cross immorality, and suspended the said William H. Smith from all chical standing in the African Metho list Episcopal church until the next session of the Mac at, Ga., conference, which meets in Miliedgeville in November, 1882. I hope all newspapers throughout the state who are friendly to virtue, order and iaw will copy this.

HELPING TO HANG HIMSELF.

Unparalleled Coolness of an Innocent Man on the Gallows.

From the Philadelphia Presa. In a handsome mansion situated in a lonely part of England there resided, a few years ago, a maiden lady of considerable wealth. One morning she was discovered foully murdered. Her man servant, named Lee, was suspected, arrested and convicted on circumstantial evidence, and, sentenced to be hanged. So conclusive seemed the evidence against the prisoner that no attempt whatever was made on the part of the public to induce the Home Secretary to exercise executive elemency. The day of the execution having arrived, the prisoner was led forth to suffer the extreme penalty. was led forth to suffer the extreme penalty. The rope to be used, the texture of which was silk and hemp, had been, as is customary in such cases, tested with the aid of sand bags, and was not found wanting. The bolt was drawn and the prisoner was given a drop of 8 feet. The rope broke. The prisoner walked, unaided, up the steps leading to the scaffold, and after the rope had been fixed again and the noose adjusted the bolt was drawn for the second time. The rope broke again.

Lee was by this time considerably stunned. However, after the lapse of a few moments, he again ascended, unaided, the steps, and after doing all in his power to allay the nervousness of the hangman, assisted the latter in once more fixing the rope. The prisoner placed himself on the trap door, the bolt was pulled, and the condemned man dropped once more training the rope of the third time.

himself on the trap door, the bolt was pailed, and the condemned man dropped once more out of view. The rope parted for the third time. After considerable delay Lee once more placed himself in the executioner's hands, but that personage and the other officials horrified at what seemed a divine interposition, refused to proceed further with the business. The facts were reported to the Home Secretary, who at once resulted the prisoner condemning him to once respited the prisoner, condemning him to imprisonment for life.

Three year's later a woman who was Lee's fellow-servant confessed on her dying bed that it was she who killed her mistress. She declared that Lee had no connection whatever with the affair, and stated facts strongly conwith the affair, and stated facts strongly con-firmatory of her confession.

Instances may possibly have occurred in which an equal amount of physical courage has been displayed, but outside of the pale of fiction there can not be cited a single case in which bravery ever played a more conspict part than in the incident above detailed. SEPT BARRET POURSE

A Wonderful Food and Medicine, Known and used by Physicians all over the world. Scott's Emulsion not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but cre ates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh from the use of it. I use it in all cases of Wasting Diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. Pieros,

M. D., Knoxville, Ala. That Tired Feeling

Season is here again, and nearly every one feels weak, languid, and exhausted. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves sluggishly through the veins, the mind fails to think quickly, and the body is still slower to respond. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just what is needed. It is a peculiar sense, the ideal spring medicine. It purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, makes the head clear, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling, and imparts new strength and vigor to the whole body. J. G. B.
